Question 1

Working with survivors of sexual exploitation is never a plain sailing but rather, a daunting task that often demands rigorous ethical considerations and competence. With this view in mind, analyse FIVE required competencies required when working with such a group in any setting of your choice.

Question 2

Identify and discuss any FIVE strategies that can be utilised in a group setting when dealing with survivors of drug and substance abuse in our contemporary society. Please give particular reference to practical examples.

Question 3

Select any group theory of your choice and demonstrate how it applies when addressing the problem of juvenile offending in high density suburbs of Zimbabwe.

Question 4

Discuss the social goal model and demonstrate how it applies when addressing the plight of Persons with Disabilities in Zimbabwe. Please give practical examples for comprehensive analysis.

Question 5

Social group work is one of the most effective method in addressing juvenile offending in Zimbabwe. Justify this view with reference to practical examples.
